IDMA GLOBAL GRAIN & MILLING FORUM

RESILIENT TRADE, INNOVATIVE MILLING

25-26 JUNE 2026 | ISTANBUL EXPO CENTER

At the intersection of continents, trade corridors, and grain flows, Türkiye occupies a uniquely strategic position in the global grain and milling landscape. Located between major grain-exporting origins in the north and key grain-importing markets in the south, Türkiye serves not only as a geographical bridge, but also as a vital commercial, logistical, and industrial link in the international grain value chain.

As one of the world's leading flour milling nations and home to a highly dynamic, export-oriented, and technologically advanced milling industry, Türkiye provides the ideal setting for a forward-looking global dialogue on grain trade, processing, food security, and innovation.

Held alongside IDMA 2026 the renowned international exhibition for flour, feed, corn, semolina, rice, bulghur milling machinery, as well as pulses, pasta, and biscuit technologies the IDMA Global Grain & Milling Forum will bring together senior executives, traders, millers, policymakers, analysts, technology providers, and sector stakeholders for two days of high-level discussion, market intelligence, and strategic networking.

The forum will explore key topics including:

- Global grain market outlook and changing trade dynamics
- Türkiye's strategic role between supply and demand regions
- New technologies in milling and grain processing
- Food security and nutrition strategies
- Sustainable milling and climate-smart grain systems

At a time when the grain industry is being reshaped by geopolitical tensions, climate risks, supply chain volatility, and technological transformation, the forum offers a timely platform to exchange ideas, build partnerships, and generate solutions.

Join the global grain community in Istanbul.

Connect with decision-makers. Gain critical insights. Help shape the future of the industry.
